Japan Pledged To Fight 'T' Kai-Shek Falls

But the Government of Mikado Anticipates No Change in "Peaceful" Relations With Soviet

Japan's policy in China and her attitude towards the Soviet Union and the United States is revealed in the following dispatch from John R. Morris, United Press Far East Manager, while en route to his headquarters in Shanghai after a holiday in the United States.—EDITOR.

By JOHN R. MORRIS
British United Press: Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin
TOKYO, Sept. 19.—Japan will continue fighting in China until the "anti-Japanese government headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek collapses."

Japanese government anticipates no change in its "peaceful relations with Soviet Russia." "We are not here from hostilities in China will cease but Japan is confident that she eventually will triumph over the difficulties."

The Japanese people have only the faintest feeling for the United States and never will forget American assistance at the time of the great earthquake and flood which destroyed large areas of Tokyo and Yokohama in September, 1923.

Mr. ABERHART PLANNING STIRS OTTAWA POLITICIANS
Cabinet Will Discuss Alberta Proposal at Meeting Tuesday

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—With international problems facing administration, Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his colleagues were given fresh food for thought last week in the move of Premier ABERHART of Alberta to bring about an interprovincial conference on Dominion issues with the federal government not invited.

No official comment could be obtained on Mr. ABERHART's invitation, made public Saturday, summoning all provincial governments to join with his in an effort to put a formula designed to cure Canada's economic ills. Some comment may be made at the cabinet council.

Mr. ABERHART's move recalls a similar effort in 1887, when Premier H. Mercer of Quebec called for an interprovincial conference to discuss the young Dominion's ills. He invited the federal government to send representatives, but Prime Minister Sir John Macdonald did not accept.

British Columbia and Prince Edward Island stayed away, but the other provinces existing at that time sent representatives and numerous resolutions were adopted dealing with Senate reform, education and taxation. Little came of it.

C. C. F. MAY JOIN LABOR PARTY IN ELECTION QUEST

CALGARY, Sept. 19.—Calgary branch of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and the Canadian Labor Party are in continuing consultation for the November election.

First decision will be made, officials of the C.C.F. and Labor party said last night, at a meeting for next Thursday.

Social Credit forces, represented on the city executive, are opposed to the C.C.F. and Labor party, but has been unsuccessful, according to Miss Ethel Baker, secretary of the Calgary Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

The C.C.F. has turned down proposals for a united front with the Social Creditists, she said. It was for the Labor party she would like.

Prayers Offered For World Peace

SHERBOURKE, Que., Sept. 19.—Prayers for world peace were offered on Sunday in a service conducted at St. Peter's church by Rev. B. A. DeWolfe, Anglican archbishop of New Westminster and Metropolitan of the ecclesiastical province of British Columbia.

But though Christians hope and pray the world never again will be engulfed in a world war, the result of the European war is that every man to do his duty, the archbishop declared in his sermon.

The sermon was a part of a series of prayers for world peace, which will be held every Sunday for the full length of the year.

FRUIT QUERY Looks No Handicap

ASKED BY B.C. INVESTIGATOR

Combine Act Being Probed By Attorney-General

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—An inquiry under the Combines Investigation Act was suggested by Attorney-General William.

Under the statute of a group of not less than six responsible citizens petition the labor department with charge that a combine exists and with some evidence to suggest that charge, the minister shall cause to be made inquiry as to the matter.

If conditions are such that it is not prudent or otherwise suitable that this formal application be made, and if there is reason for the minister to believe a combine is operating, he may, on his own responsibility, cause an inquiry to be made by the minister administering the act to conduct an investigation.

As for the fruit, the British Columbia fruit growers' association has been made with respect to the British Columbia fruit growers' association. Yesterday Attorney-General William stated at Vancouver he had been told to prosecute under the Provincial Sales on Consignment Act but the latter provision of the industry demanded investigation by a federal authority.

Asked how long the war in China is likely to continue and what Japan's program will be in the area, he may reply when the struggle has been decided.

It is impossible to predict when it will come. All I can say is that the war in China is likely to continue for some time.

There is no Chinese government now in existence with which Japan would negotiate peace. We will not deal with Chiang Kai-Shek. With the two regimes in being, it is not possible to negotiate with either.

I remarked that official warnings that existing economic restrictions may be ending after the war in China have led to a belief that Japan expects serious developments in the near future.

"We anticipate no trouble with the Soviet Union," Kono said. "We desire only the most friendly relations with Russia."

"What is really important is that we should have friendly relations with the United States. It is our duty to do so."

"The conversation then turned to Japanese-American relations and to the fact that the Japanese government has not yet decided to return to the United States after the disaster in 1923."

"We will never forget how the Japanese people helped us in our disaster," Kono said. "Our gratitude for the spontaneous sympathy and generous aid of the American people and their government will remain forever engraved in our hearts."

Prime Minister Would Summon Parliament In Event of Conflict

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King indicated in a statement Saturday that before Canada was committed to any active part in the war of events of Central Europe he would summon parliament to receive the government's recommendations.

The prime minister followed the line of action he laid out in his statement of the past two years on the attitude of his administration toward events that might involve Canada, as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

At the same time the Prime Minister renewed his faith in the ability of the British government to handle the situation.

RAPID-FIRE GUNS VANISH FROM BATTLE

Reich Said To Be Re-Enforcing Raw Material Strength

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—German withdrawal of some war equipment from Spain, as well as the Spanish war front, was reported in confidential advice reaching diplomatic quarters in Washington during the weekend.

The movement was considered a move to re-enforce raw material strength.

Time quarters to be accompanied by a speeding-up of shipments of Spanish ore from Bilbao, Spain, and other sources.

CRASHES DISAPPEAR

In addition to a new type rapid-fire, electrically-controlled artillery piece, some airplanes, particularly the new German and French, have disappeared from the front recently the advice said.

The reports listed the development with decreased offensive activity on the Spanish front.

German participation in the Spanish conflict has been confined largely to providing equipment and munitions and technical assistance, informed persons said.

For a time, according to well-authenticated reports, German and French troops were sent to Spain for training in the use of modern weapons.

SPAIN IMPORTANT

This was true of the first Spanish war, and tanks sent to Spain for training in the use of modern weapons.

Should France be drawn into a conflict with Germany, military officials said, Spain would constitute one front because of Germany's foothold along France's southern border.

Official reports reaching Washington said Germany has retained a strong military presence in Spain, particularly in the Basque region.

Grooming Legs and Feet Keeps Step With Beauty

By ALICIA HART

Although she has spent her last day on the beach and does not expect to wear shorts again for months and months, the fastidious woman continues to practice beauty routines that keep her feet and legs smooth, soft and attractive. She has or gives her feet a pedicure at least three times a month, removes superfluous hair from her legs regularly and bolsters white-knuckled in lotions and creams for both feet and legs.

To make her knees as soft and lovely as they were last spring before she started sunbathing in the sand with a vengeance, she massages rich cream into them several times a week, rubs them with a stiff brush each time she bathes and, after each bath, puts on a soothing lotion.

PELICURE IS SIMPLE

To remove callouses on feet and ankles, she lightly rubs the hardened areas with a bit of pumice sometime during each pedicure. She puts only rubber removers on them now and then to even pedicures. And she never cuts a callus or scrapes it with a scraper or a file.

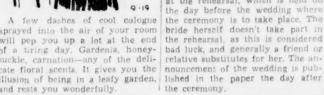

For routine for a proper pedicure a thorough but essentially simple. First, she shaves the toenails with sharp scissors or special clippers, shapes the nails and smooths away rough edges with emery boards. She then takes a tub bath or else soaks her feet in warm, soapy water. Afterward, she massages cuticle remover oil or special manicure cream into the base of each nail, pushes dry skin back with an orange stick and lightly rubs calomel or 1:3 resorcinol pumice.

After a careful rinsing and drying with a rough towel, her toenails are ready to receive a coat of lacquer or to be buffed lightly with powder polish. When the lacquer is dry, she massages hand lotion in to feet and legs.

There are, of course, several superfluous hair removal methods.

DESIGN No. 639—REGENCY MONOGRAMS AND INITIALS

Dear Reader: We wondered at the unusual number of letters asking for initials until one of the young ladies who opens your letters suggested, "People are always thinking of Christmas." We think you show good judgment. There is nothing like a graceful initial or monogram to decorate household linens of all kinds, purses, scarves, lingerie and wearables of all descriptions. These are most dignified in design, the letters offered by tiny flowers and leaves which may be worked in colors.

The pattern includes transfers for complete three-letter monograms and single initials in three sizes, also two boxes (frames), diagrams of stitches and all directions for working.

Send 15 cents in coin for this pattern to The Edmonton Bulletin, Needlework Dept., Edmonton, Alberta.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

THE consolation prize for age is, that it is a double-edged sword for everything you want to do and everything you do not wish to do. When you are 70 you are too old to work, but not too old to play. You are too feeble to take care of the grandchildren or do chores about the house, but you are perfectly able to take a trip around the world, and sit up until midnight playing bridge.

Now it is fine and cozy in the old to have erected this smart screen of excises and retired behind it to have a grand time. I often wonder if they do not miss a good thing too far and if white hair really entitles its privileged possessors to all the luxuries they claim for it.

Take, for instance, the way most old people let themselves slump physically. It is only the exceptional old man and woman who exhibit any pride in their personal appearance and who make an effort to keep themselves well groomed and well dressed and who hold their shoulders back and their chins up.

Most elderly people simply let themselves go. The men have souvenirs of their last meal on their waistcoats, their trousers bag at the knees and their hair straggles over their coat collars and their linen cuffs fold on the laundry.

This is the case even among men.

Raising A Family - By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Today I am going to be grand, and I will be, my little fellow is playing like a dog under my feet. I mean my son, I'll be seeing you later, Milt! (Milt is my dog.) And with a grin he leans out of my arms and goes for me elsewhere.

I had a grand time with a baby, a punky, pink and stuffed turkey when we all went out for Thanksgiving. My grand - children come for holidays and get their O.R. Barton goodies. I am so different from the jolly old ladies on the magazine covers that I am so different from the typical grandma. They aren't far wrong at that. We love those little folk beyond words.

I don't know, of course, what your situation is. Or whether you live with your grandchildren or not. It does make a difference, for in the same house for long, you become part of the family, just as parents do. But one thing I do know, and this is your heart. I know mine and that tells me enough.

I might confuse to you, if you don't mind, that the more you worry about me, the more you think you are making, the less they will be inclined to listen. They think you can be mistaken, too. So

Sonnysaysings

By Fanny Y. Coru

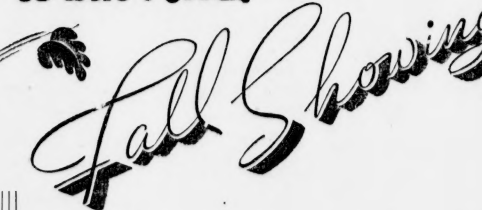

My grandchildren and I are friends. I am not grandma with a long face or too soft a heart, either one or the other. Sometimes I give one of the grandies a piece of my mind, but I shouldn't.

I have my grandchildren with me only once a while. Maybe you have yours all the time. Our problems, just like parents, can have identical experiences.

But maybe, if you are unhappy ever this or that and feel left out, you might try to forget it. Go and take walks if you are able. See your friends. Don't mind your world to your children and grandchildren. They will get along. So will you. Your heart will ache for poor Johnny whose parents, you think, don't understand him. Maybe they don't. But you are suffering more than Johnny. I suspect. Be friends and make him cookies, or read him stories. And don't ever let on to his parents that you think they are wrong. Johnny won't love us long, either. I fear, if we upset his love, even though our intentions are the best in the world.

Bronk Interference Paves Way for Win

By JACK KELLY
Edmonton Bulletin Sports Editor

CALGARY, Sept. 19.—With much of their power short-circuited through an epidemic of injuries that they took into the game with them, Edmonton Eskimos went down to defeat here Saturday afternoon before the Bronks by a count of 16-3 in Calgary's first home game of the Western Football Conference schedule. Approximately 2,000 fans turned out for the game that was played in broiling summer heat.

Hovell was unable to play and his position as snap for the Eskimos was taken away by Steve Olander, Coach Bob Fritz was in the game for less than one minute, made one beautiful tackle and had to hobble to the bench again with his bad knee.

Ferguson was hobbling on a leg.

Louis Rinsland both went into the game with big sponge rubber pads to protect badly hurt ribs.

Grid Data

Failure of the Eks to block Bronk interference and failure to provide holes for their own ball carriers, plus a couple bad breaks in the story of the Edmonton loss to a national. Touchdowns by Paul Rowe, Johnny Meehan and Buzzard with a kick by Billy Brown produced Calgary's 16 points. A rough and a safety touch brought the Eks three points.

FUMBLE STARTED IT

A fumble in the first minute of play paved the way for the Bronks to take the lead. The fumble was a gift from the fickle gods of the gridiron. Calgary's first touchdown was brilliant and came in the first quarter. Just before half time, Buzzard plunged for the third major Bronk score. In the last half, Edmonton's defense outplayed the Bronks. Only a highly unpopular decision by the officials prevented the Eks from taking the lead.

Dark Horses Continue Pace Scottish League

GLASGOW, Sept. 19.—Dark horses have stolen the show in Scottish Football League warfare this year. But the league's producers of prizes for honors are close behind.

Just out of the relegation zone at the close of the 1937-38 campaign, Clyde beat down opposition in its first five games of the current season and held the first unit Saturday. The Shawfield Park squad was repaid at the top by Queen of South, a club not reckoned by experts to do much.

The Dumfries entry—also near the bottom in final standings last year—lost its first match of the season to the first five and played a draw earlier last week Saturday. The team performed better than the first five.

Up-to-date compilations now show Queen of South with 13 points, one better than Glasgow Rangers, Aberdeen and Dundee.

Clyde on the latter ground over the week-end and the league champion.

Snappy goal posts you got, Pal!

Kilburn-Mountfield Retain Eaton Golf Cup

MATCHING a sizzling pace set by the challenging Martell brothers, Henry and Burns, Jim Mountfield and Doug Kilburn retained the Eaton golf trophy with a 19th hole victory Sunday afternoon at the Country club before a gallery of close to 400 fans.

Doug Kilburn, shooting his best brilliant competitive game of the season, settled the issue on the extra hole with a birdie three after Henry Martell missed a birdie for a half by more than two inches on his put.

Henry forced the game the extra distance when he tied it up by enning a sensational 45-foot putt on the 17th green for a birdie four.

Kilburn was the only one of the four to come in with a complete card—a crisp under-par for the 18 holes. He was two under on the first nine, two over on the second and one under on the 18th.

The Martells were under on the first nine, two over on the second and one under on the 18th.

Edmonton Quintet After Second Struggle Tonight

Ralph Morgan Is Picked For Seattle Tryout

CANTON Engravers, forty-fourth team to invade for the Underwood trophy, emblematic of international women's basketball supremacy, met Edmonton's Commercial Grade and like the greater majority of their predecessors, met defeat, beaten Saturday evening at the Arena by an overwhelming score of 75-25. It was the first game of a best-of-five series. The second game is scheduled for Monday and the third on Wednesday.

A scintillating passing attack, complete with lath accuracy is the story of the Grad triumph. Grads, after a fairly close first quarter, raced through the American quintet in the remaining three frames with ease. They made many sparkling plays which placed them in a scoring position at nearly every turn.

Obviously tired from their long train ride which was delayed and resulted in the team not arriving until 10:30 p.m., the Seattle girls were unable to stand up to the steady crashing Grad attack. Only for a few minutes did the quarter did the blue and gold invaders play with striking distance of the Grads. After that, the white and Edmontonians swept through the rapidly tired Engravers.

INQUIRY INTO GUN CONTRACT IS ADJOURNED

Seek Permission From British War Office To File Documents

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The inquiry into the Bren machine gun contract between the Canadian government and the John Inglis Company of Toronto was adjourned to a date yet to be fixed after the probe opened here today.

The adjournment, requested by Hon. J. L. Ralston, commission counsel and former minister of national defence, was agreed to by other counsel and by the Hon. Justice H. H. Davis, commissioner.

PERMISSION SOUGHT

The adjournment was for the purpose of obtaining from the British war office permission to file correspondence and documents passing between the Canadian and British governments, and between the John Inglis Company and the British government. It was expected the decision as to use of these documents would come from London in a few days.

The documents to be presented, if the British government agrees, include the contract, correspondence, and documents passing between the Canadian and British governments from February 1938 up to the date of the inquiry. It was expected that the documents would be relevant to the inquiry, Col. Ralston said, and should be presented.

NUMEROUS DOCUMENTS

Col. Ralston said a firm of chartered accountants had been engaged to examine the books of the John Inglis Company and had not yet completed its work. Col. Ralston said it was important that a report on it be obtained. He assured the commission the time taken for adjournment would not be wasted but would save time later on.

STATEMENT FILED

Col. Drew asked specifically that a statement made by Hon. J. L. Ralston be filed with the commission. He said there were no objections to the filing of statements including those of Col. Drew.

In dealing with government documents and communications, he said, it was the desire to make all possible information to the public available. He said the "public disclosure" of information affecting the public interest.

BELOUCO SECRETARY

Paul Belouco of Ottawa was sworn in as secretary. Also sworn in were J. C. McKelvey of Toronto representing the John Inglis Company, J. P. Halmuth of Toronto and Col. Drew. He was representing the Canadian Public Inquiry Commission. Col. Drew declined the government's offer to pay counsel fees on his behalf.

Mr. Justice Davis said he was anxious to get on with the inquiry without delay and "get down to the serious business of taking the evidence." He was agreeable to the adjournment if counsel felt it would expedite matters.

Both Mr. Ralston and Mr. Halmuth agreed this was the case. Mr. Halmuth said they would file a statement before he was able to complete his evidence.

Returns

RABBI J. J. EISEN

who returned to Edmonton Sunday after spending the summer carrying on yeshiva work in China. He was in the yeshiva area and also paid visits to the friends.

On his return he addressed a large meeting in Vancouver on the yeshiva work in China, describing the agony of the conflict in the Chinese residents of that city.

He was in Toronto and it might be desirable to hold part of the inquiry there and at that time he would suggest the plan.

"There is a great deal in that," said the commission. "If the plan is to be carried out, it is important that the inquiry be held in the city where the documents were relevant to the inquiry. Col. Ralston said, and should be presented."

IN PUBLIC INTEREST

Mr. Ralston said it was in the public interest to make all possible information to the public available. He said the "public disclosure" of information affecting the public interest.

STANCE IS Fatal

ST. JAVIER, Que., Sept. 10.—Chased out of a big dance at the wedding celebration of a friend for his stance, a young man, M. L. Labele, 23, collapsed and died early today before he was able to complete his evidence.

Both Mr. Ralston and Mr. Halmuth agreed this was the case. Mr. Halmuth said they would file a statement before he was able to complete his evidence.

SOCRED POLICY IMPLEMENTED BY NEW PLAN

The program in which Mr. Manning refers will involve establishment of credit houses in the mountains, Red Deer, Mountain House and other points.

These credit houses will be used as a means of paying the certificates which will be incorporated in the new plan. Farmers will be enabled to work out a portion of their back taxes by this plan, with two out of three days work going in this direction and every third day will be paid for.

The credit houses will be enabled to receive deposits of cash and currency and to pay interest on the plan. Bonus on part of the sale of wheat and livestock will be included in the program.

ARMERHART SPEAKS

Speaking in Calgary, Premier William Abernethy said along with what similar lines and declared that the proposed branch credit houses would make it possible for farmers to secure a bonus on the sale of a part of their grain and cattle.

The premier declared that first steps to set up credit houses would be taken by the government within the next week or 10 days. The premier did not say that the credit houses would be set up by the government or the system to be used in a farmers' house.

Mr. Manning said that his branch credit houses would be set up by the government and they will be handled on a similar basis to a credit house of the premier said.

Mr. Manning declared that the many letters of appreciation and support had been received and in thanking the writers he declared that the credit houses would be set up by the government and they will be handled on a similar basis to a credit house of the premier said.

SUFFICIENT WITNESSES

Referring to an inquiry from Mr. Halmuth, Col. Ralston said he had sufficient witnesses and evidence to carry out the inquiry.

LAUDS SPONSORS

This should apply in the ordinary, everyday things of life as well as in the big things. May I again pay tribute to our sponsors for tonight.

Mr. Manning said that his branch credit houses would be set up by the government and they will be handled on a similar basis to a credit house of the premier said.

Seven Canuck Hockey Players Sail For England

QUEBEC, Sept. 10.—Seven Canadian hockey players, all but one from Winnipeg, sailed aboard the liner Empress of Australia Saturday for England to play with Haringey Groundhounds in the English league.

For Harold McBride and Wilf Munn, both of Winnipeg and C. J. Tisdale of Montreal, only one of them will mean their first puck-chasing in England. But the season of the Winnipeg, Steve Latoski and Dunc Chynoweth all have played in the English league and some of them have been in the prospect of facing on their skate for practice next Sunday, though they are not sure of it.

The players agreed hockey in England was "just good as hockey in Canada only not so rough." Dunc Chynoweth said that practice line is being suspended for a month or being sent home are what fighting gets you.

Three penalties and close surveillance of the game by officials are the play check and the English fans who are taking the game more and more every season are quick to show their disapproval of "dirty stuff," according to Shack.
